FORFEITED HIS CASH BOND.

Beckner, Charged with Perjury, Failed to Appear in Court-Assignee's Claim.

Hey H. Beckner, arrested by Constables Hutton and Holmes. Tuesday night, for perjury, upon the affidavit of his assignee, F. E. Helwig, failed to appear yesterday morning in Justice Habich's court for preliminary bearing, and his bond was forfeited. At the time of his arrest Beckner deposited $500 in each for his appearance at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. When the hour for the hearing arrived his attorney, Jesse Hamrick, was on hand, but no defendant appeared. His attorney said he would not say that the defendant would appear, and this was taken as meaning, in fact, that he would not, and the bond was forfeited. W. H. Ogborn, deputy presecutor in the court, will at once bring suit for the amount of the bond and the 10 per cent, allowed by statute for its collection. Justice Habich has the money in his "inside pocket." but the creditors will endeavor to get possession of it by petition in the Circuit Court. claiming that the money was not rightfully Beckner's, but belonged to them under the assignment made by him the fore part of last month.

Patrolman Bolen Married. Officer Franklin Bolen was married at noon yesterday. The bride was Miss Alice Shaffer, residing on North West street. The couple went to Peoria, Ill., yesterday morning, where the nuptials were solemnized at the home of the bride's aunt. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bolen left for Chicago, and after spending a few days at the Columbian Ex-New York street.

VIRGINIA AVENUE IS GLAD

First Electric Car Over the Viadact Given Smiles and Cheers En Route.

Change Boys Join in the Welcome, Though Their Occupation's Gone-Quick Time Made -Cars To-Day-Street-Car Litigation.

A score or more of people, in the years to come, will be enabled to say that they, on May 10, 1893, rode on the first electric car that ever made its way on the South Side in the city of Indianapolis. These persons comprised the highest dignitaries of the Citizens' company down to the change boys who work on the viaduet, and who saw in this first electric motor that went whizzing over it the disappearance of their situations in assisting to pull cars up the steep incline with their extra mules.

Yesterday afternoon, promptly at o'clock, a brand new open motor swung around the curve at the Union Station, coming from the Louisiana-street barn, and stopped at the Illinois-street side. It was numbered 289, and a bright-colored sign on its top read "Virginia Avenue." It stood there for a moment, until the touring party got aboard, which consisted of President A. L. Mason, directors Sterling R. Holt and W. L. Elder, attorney Leon O. Bailey and H. C. Allen, Superintendent Boyd, Commissioner Catterson, Scott Hazelrig, purchasing agent, Electrician Jewell and newspaper men. Tom Lewis held the key to the motor, and Pat Griffin was the car's conductor. The car and its load did not attract any unusual interest as it made the circuit of Washington street, but it had no sooner turned into Virginia avenue, and started toward the viaduct with its gong clanging, than the people rushed to their doors and assisted it on its way with cheers and waving of handkerchiefs. stop was made on the top of the viaduct, and at that place a lot of the hill change boys climbed on its sides and hung to the foot rail the rest of the trip. Tom Lewis waited until the mule cars which were shead had gotten out of the way, and then "cut her wide open." Away way, and then "cut her wide open." Away it whizzed down the incline on the other side, then up the hill on whose top stands No. 11's engine house, and so on clear to the fountain which marks the diverging of the avenue into Prospect and Sheiby streets. There the trolley was reversed and the car was brought back. The trip down was made in ten minutes from the transfer car including the stop. The regntransfer car, including the stop. The regular time of mule locomotion is eighteen minutes. Coming back the car made the distance from the fountain to South street in just two minutes. Those aboard computed that the running time from the transfer car to the Shelby-street stables when all has been adjusted and in working order would be about five minutes. Cars will be put on the avenue regularly this morning, and will be run at intervals of five minutes. English avenue and South East street trailers will be attached at in-tervals of ten minutes each. The Prospectstreet line will be worked by a system of transfers until the electrical equipment has been extended out there, and the same on Shelby street. The company has been de-layed in completing the latter extension on account of the slowness of the work on the new Shelby-street bridge, which is building over Pleasant run by the city. By the time that that is finished the road will be fully equipped for electric cars, which will run out to Garfield Park.

The opening of Virginia avenue to rapid transit is the fulfillment of the first of the promises of the Citizens' company, and the fact that the street was lined with cheering people as the trial-trip car went speeding by is an indication of the sentiment of the public regarding it.

The electric line on Virginia avenue makes several changes in routes necessary. The Central-avenue cars will take the Blake-street route after passing the transfer car, the stock-yards will take the Indi-ana avenue and West street, and the Cen-tral hospital cars will run only between the hospital and the transfer car.

City Company Waiting. The City railway people are not doing any talking these days. It has been given out by them that there is nothing for them to do until the time expires which they gave the Citizens' company to remove its tracks from the streets which have been given it by the city, and that they are waiting for that time to roll round. The date is May 18, or next Saturday. Secretary Bals was asked when the City company would bring its suit to oust the other company, and said that he supposed a day or so after they found whether or not the Citizens' company had complied with their Annual Convention at Lorraine Hall-Papers and Discussions.

The twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Indiana Eclectic Medical Association, at Lorraine Hall, yesterday, was called to order by the president, Dr. J. D. McCann, of Monticello. The officers present are Dr. A. P. Hauss, New Albany, first vice president; Dr. M. S. Canfield, Frankfort, second vice president; Dr. F. M. Hector, recording secretary; Dr. S. S. Boots, corresponding secretary; Dr. T. M. Culver, Indianapolis, treasurer. The first paper to come before the association was on "Cholera," read by Dr. J. R. Dunean, of Crawfordsville. Dr. W. F. Curryer read an able paper on "Maternal Impressions." This was discussed at length by the association. Prof. R. M. Thomas, M. D., of Cincinnati, was unanimously elected as an honorary member of the association. The afternoon session was opened by the president reading the annual address. He dwelt at length on the "Character of the Physician," impressing on the association that the true physician should be a Christian man. Dr. L. Russell, a noted surgeon of Springfield, O., who is attending the association, was elected as an honorary member. Dr. E. A. Converse, of Tampico, read a paper on "Nasal Catarrh." The committee on member-ship reported favorably on a number of applicants to membership to the association. After adjournment, at 4:50 o'clock, refreshments were served to the members of the association and their friends. The evening meeting was devoted to an address by Dr. Bioyer, of Cincinnati.

To-day's session will open with a paper read by Dr. A. P. Hauss, of New Albany. on "Aseptic and Antiseptic Wound Treatment." A number of able papers will be read by members from different parts of the State. The afternoon session will be devoted to the election and installation of the officers.

TWO BAD BOYS

Rob Their Father, at Rushville, Who Says He Will Send Them to Prison.

Deputy Sheriff Williams, of Rush county, was in the city yesterday looking up some evidence in a case of grand larceny which was committed at Rushville on the night of April 10. Two boys named Gable robbed their father, a wealthy citizen, of $180, and the following day came to this city where they purchased two suits of clothes at the Misfit on East Washington street. After their return home both young men were arrested and jailed. The deputy sheriff submitted the clothes to the proprietor of the Misht store yesterday, and they were recognized as the same. The father intends sending his sons to prison, if possible.

Getting Ready for the Children. A meeting was held Tuesday afternoon by the executive committee of the Summer Mission for Sick Children, ca which oceasion arrangements were completed for the meeting to be held next week. Rev. J. STRANGELY ACTING MAN.

Insists that He Had Committed Murder and Must Be Locked Up in Jail.

An old man with disheveled hair and excited manner ran into the jail, yesterday afternoon, and dramatically confessed that be had just killed a man at the corner of Meridian and Wisconsin streets, and came to give himself up. He was not intoxicated, and displayed no evidence of insanity to the turnkey, and he detained the self-confessed murderer until a police officer could be summoned. By degrees the story of the crime was elicited, and Sergeants Lowe and Mefford were sent harriedly to the viofficers were absent the old man stated that his name was Valentine Ziegman and that he resided at No. 3 English avenue. Years ago he had a quarrel with a man named Brown, and the trouble ended in a feud which was not wiped out until yesterday. While walking down South Meridian street Ziegman claimed that he met Brown, and the latter, with a murderous look, drew a huge butcher knife and came at him. In self-defense he brought forth his revolver and fired. The bullet struck Brown and, believing he had badly injured him, he fied from the scene. Ziegman stated that Brown lived on Kausas street, and the police sergeants thoroughly investigated the affairs of every Brown on the street. After two hours' work they returned with the report that Ziegman was either drunk or crazy, They failed to find the wounded Brown, and the prisoner was released.

MACHINISTS' MEETING CLOSES.

Cincinnati Chosen as the Site of the Next Convention-The Farewell Meeting.

The international convention of machinists adjourned sine die with the session of last evening. The entire time yesterday was consumed in selecting the next place of meeting, Cincinnati being finally chosen. Other cities competing for the honor were Denver, Toronto, Boston, Cleveland, Omaha and Kansas City. The time of meeting of the next convention is the first Monday in May, 1894.

Last night was devoted to speech making, in which nearly all the delegates took a hand. The occasion was marked by the best of feeling, and delegates who, during the convention, have bitterly opposed one another on questions of policy, figuratively speaking, fell upon each others' necks and wept. A vote of thanks was tendered the local lodge for attentions shown. Delegates in attendance agree that the convention has been highly successful, and they believe that more bene-ficial effects will result than have accrued from any former convention.

The members of the executive board will remain here three days disposing of matters referred to them for settlement.

NUMEROUS BIDS.

County Commissioners Receive and Open 110 for Repairs of Gravel Roads.

The County Commissioners yesterday morning opened 110 bids submitted to them for furnishing gravel to repair the free gravel roads of the county. On account of the large number of bids submitted it was impossible to consider them yesterday, and the work will hardly be completed before Saturday. They range in price from 18 cents to $1.25 per yard, spread upon the road, the general average being between 45 and 50 cents. Heretofore the work has been done by contract at $2.50 per day for a team, but the commissioners this year decided to let it by contract to the lowest bidder.

SERIOUS CHARGES.

Mrs. J. A. Smith Accuses Two Tenants, Women, of Setting Fire to Her House.

The fire department was called to No. 94 Massachusetts avenue, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, to extinguish a blaze in the furnished rooms owned by Mrs. J. A. Smith. The flames were confined to the carpet of the sitting-room, and when first discovered by the family, were issuing from a na tural-gas pipe, from the end of which the plug had been extracted. Mrs. Smith was highly excited over the fire, and made a complaint at police headquarters, accusing one of her tenants with having applied a match to the gas. She states that two women, one of whom was Sadie Wright, occupied the apartments until Monday night, and left the rooms in a very bad humor. Detective Splann will investigate the charges.

Paid to the State Institutions. The Auditor of State yesterday drew warrants for $7,648.66 for April maintenance at the Northern Hospital for the Insane, and for $6,571 for maintenance for the Eastern Hospital.

Emperor William's Mistake, The young Emperor with the "old head" was trying to consolidate the parliamentary factions on the parade ground a few days ago. That was a sad mistake. They are seemingly irreconcilable, and he will have to resort to extraordinary measures to accomplish his design. Our advice would be to arrange a session of the Reichstag right here in Indianapolis, where all members could easily be gotten into an indulgent mood by offering them a few glasses of the consoling and exhilarating queen of malt beverages, "Columbia," the latest product of the Home Brewing Company. On tap everywhere. Bottled by J. Bos. Telephone 1669.

BEAUTIES BEYOND DESCRIPTION. The Art Treasures of the Orient Defy the English Language. For any one to try and give an adequate idea of what can be seen in Oriental rugs and carpets at the free exhibition now being held for the patrons and friends of the Pettis Dry Goods Company would be taking upon one's self a task that never could be completed in print. We openly and candidly advise, yes, urge, all lovers of the beautiful and truly useful, as well as ornamental, who have not already done so, to go without fail and see this most luxurious collection of Oriental splendor. There are rugs that cannot be duplicated at any cost, rugs that are wonderful specimens of a lost art and race, rugs if they could speak could tell a tale of ancient extravagance and magnificence that would seem to us like a tale from the fixence visual seem to us like a tale from the "Arabian Nights." The exhibition continues until Saturday night. Judging from the ladies and gentlemen who have already called or sent for a catalogue, it would seem as if most every respectable family in In-dianapolis was becoming interested. Take your catalogue, put a check against the number of any piece that may interest you during the exhi-bition; attend the sale; ask to have it put on the easel, and buy it at a price that will fit your own purse. The sale, by auction, is to begin promptly Monday morning, whether it rains or whether it shines. Sale to take place at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon during Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.
